Go animal spotting in the New Forest National Park

When you cross the grids into the New Forest it won't be long before you spot one of the National Park's resident ponies, donkeys, pigs, or cattle who roam free amongst the ancient heaths and woodland.

Walk or cycle alongside the wildlife and count how many of the New Forest's 3000 ponies you can spot. The National Park's deer may be harder to find but at Bolderwood Deer Sanctuary there's a chance to spot them from a specially-constructed viewing platform. Look out for pigs too, especially during pannage in the New Forest when up to 600 pigs scour the forest floor to eat the seasonal acorns and nuts.
