

Morrisons Café FREE jacket potato & beans (normally £5)*
You just need to "ask for Henry". Valid every day, till 7 May

If you're visiting a Morrisons Café (find your nearest*), you can get a completely FREE jacket potato and beans (normally costing £4.98 for jacket potato, side salad and Heinz beans) from Monday 24 April until Sunday 7 May.

Heinz has teamed up with Morrisons once again for this offer, and is hoping that it will provide hot meals to those who may otherwise struggle to afford it. So even if this offer is not for you, please do pass the info on to someone in need. It's available in all Morrisons 397 cafés, and is on every day while cafés are serving hot food (times may vary from each location).

This is a total freebie with no minimum spend required, but it's limited to one free jacket potato and beans per customer, per day. To claim the deal, you just need to 'ask for Henry' at the till point (Henry Heinz is the founder of Heinz beans in case you were wondering where the name came from).
