

Our Lady & St Joseph use our very own systematic, synthetic phonics programme to support our children to learn to read and write – “Pip and Pap Phonics.” As part of our phonics scheme, we also have decodable reading books that match the sounds that children are learning in school, that star all of the ‘Pip and Pap’ alien characters!

We are now in a position to offer these reading books for sale to parents, to support with phonics at home. As this is our own phonics scheme, we can offer parents a significant discount on copies, should you wish to order.

RRP is £5.00 for each book, but we would like to offer parents a substantial discount, at just £3.00 per story book. If you would like to order any copies of the books for reading at home or for Christmas gifts – please fill in the attached order form and return to Mrs Reilly in the office or via email. Payments will need to be made through SCOPay, sadly we cannot accept cash or cheques at this time.

There is no obligation to buy – children will still continue to take books home to borrow from our reading scheme and library bus as normal. Many thanks for your continued support!
